Key sewer line has major break

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city faces emergency repairs to its most important sewer line.

A major break in a 106-inch sewer line has been discovered and the $65,000 cost of repairing the line will have to come out of general revenue.

City Engineer Roger Hadley said the sewer line serves most of East Granite, the industrial sections of the city including Granite City Steel, and the downtown area. It must be repaired immediately, he said, recommending that the City Council allocate at least $65,000 to repair 50 feet of the line.

"It services a tremendous portion of the city. It could collapse," Hadley said.

The break was pinpointed when colored water was pumped around the line and was videotaped gushing into the line from a specific location, Hadley said. The break is under water.

The line flows into the city's sewage treatment plant on the grounds of the U.S. Army's St. Louis Area Support Center. The break is near the plant.

Hadley said any repair delays could cost the city much more because if the line collapsed — a diversion line would have to be built.

At the council's Dec. 15 meeting, some aldermen questioned why the city had to pay for the repairs from its general revenue funds. Recent major sewer breaks have been repaired using Build Illinois funds.

"To go with Build Illinois, you've got to write to them ... present plans and get them to approve. I'm talking about months," Hadley said.

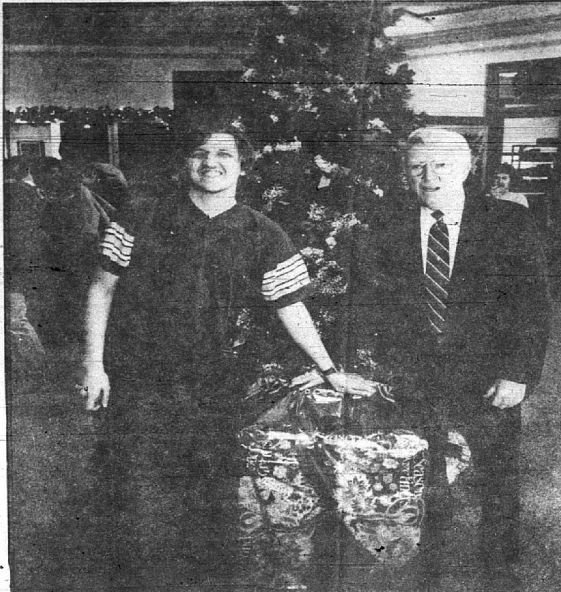

The line will be repaired by Insituform Inc., a company that uses a technique that forms a new line within the old line. Digging up the old line is not necessary when using Insituform.

The city has used Insituform to repair most of its recent sewer breaks.

The company should be finished with the repairs by February, Hadley said.

Millions of gallons of sewage and stormwater daily flow into the line and the flow is expected to increase sharply after a new line from Madison is built, Hadley said. He warned that the city should consider repaving the entire line, which is about 50 years old.

"It's an important line and it's going to get more important. It's possible it has more problems," Hadley said.

Meeting tapes to be erased

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Audio tapes of District 9 School Board meetings will be erased.

The board on Tuesday-voted 5-2 to erase the tapes after written minutes of the meeting are approved.

A discussion on taping the meetings was started by board member Paul Ray Bowler after the board received a written request from John Petish Sr. to listen to one of the tapes.

Bowler said he thought it was a "great idea" to preserve the meetings on tape. Persons who couldn't attend the meetings or who are visually impaired and can't read the written minutes could listen to the tapes, he said.

"I don't like any form of censorship," Bowler said.

Superintendent Gib Walmsley said the audio tapes are used as a "clerical aid" for District 9 executive secretary Barbara Hediger, who prepares the minutes. If the tapes were to be used for another intent, Walmsley said, he would recommend that the board hire a court reporter.

Monroe Worthen, board president, said persons listening to the tape might not be able to distinguish voices or might take what was said out of context.

"I don't like to be taken out of context," Worthen said.

If visually impaired persons are concerned about what the board is doing, they should make an effort to be at the meetings, Worthen said.

"They have the opportunity to be here," he said.

Worthen suggested the board videotape its meetings if it "wanted to do it right."

It would take three cameras to properly videotape the meetings, Walmsley said. District equipment could be used to videotape the meetings and department heads could run the cameras, Bowler said. Bowler offered to pay for 20 video cassettes.

Board member Roy Koberna and Bowler voted against erasing the audio tapes.

Reviews and previews

Candidate alleges deal made

A late-comer, Steve Maragides, 50, Madison, launched his congressional candidacy with political attacks. He alleged the Madison County Democratic Party Central Committee made a deal to endorse congressional candidate Jerry Costello, 38, St. Clair County Board chairman, if the St. Clair County party would support Madison County candidate acting Appellate Court Justice Horace L. Calvo, Glen Carbon, for Illinois Supreme Court. Both parties deny that any such deal was made.

Davis interim BAC chancellor

Former Granite City District 9 Superintendent B.J. Davis was appointed Thursday as interim chancellor of Belleville Area College. Davis will serve until a replacement can be found for former Chancellor Bruce Wissore.

Salvation Army seeks donations

Hundreds of area families will be turning to the Salvation Army this week for food, clothing and toys for their children, but the annual Tree of Lights campaign urgently needs a boost from donors, said Avery Schermer, 1987 drive chairman and Salvation Army Capt. Curtiss Hartley. Last year, 3,537 area individuals received some kind of cheer from the Salvation Army.

Quote of the week

"Bob is operating under an unfortunate condition of ignorance," said Donald Rea, Madison County Board member from Pontoon Beach. Rea was responding to Granite City resident Bob Barton's petition drive calling for the County Board chairman to be selected through a countywide vote instead of by a majority of the board.

Tip of the hat

Fred McCollegan

Hero
Fred McCollegan, owner of Fast Freddy's hair styling salon, is recognized for his heroic rescue last week of a woman who was trapped in her car. The car ran off State Aid 35 and started sinking in icy water. McCollegan, on his way to work, stopped and dove into the frigid water while bystanders waited for a rescue vehicle. He swam to the woman's car, cleared debris from in front of her door, pulled the woman out and swam back to the road with the woman.

District 9 tax levy totals $10.4 million

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A revised 1987 real estate tax levy, totaling $10,440,017, was adopted Dec. 15 by the District 9 School Board.

Adoption of the levy means a 6.3 percent school tax increase for district taxpayers. The 1987 levy, $10,440,017, is a 6.3 percent increase over the 1986 levy of $9,819,290.

Combined with the $1,120,938 bond and interest levy that is automatically added, the total new levy is $11,560,955, compared to $9,876,027, extended a year ago and $9,993,290 two years ago.

The estimated total school tax rate is $3.9647 on each $100 assessed valuation, up 17.27 cents from the 1986 rate of $3.3792. The 1985 rate was $3.856.

Owca said residents living in a $40,000 home assessed at $15,353 will pay additional taxes of $28.31 a year. Taxes will be collected in the summer of 1988.

The adopted levy is $174,981 more than the first levy proposal of $10,265,056 presented to the board Nov. 24. The further increase in the levy was decided on due to a $218,885 cut in state money for the transportation fund, Owca said.

"On Dec. 1, 1987, the state Department of Education's Office of Reimbursements informed me that our reimbursement for regular student transportation was being decreased from 73.8 percent to 61.1 percent," he said.

The amount levied for the transportation fund increased from $349,923 in the original proposal to $524,885 in the adopted levy, he said.

The other figures remained the same. They are $7,435,879 for the education fund, $1,093,511 for the building fund, $576,117 for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, $210,717 for Social Security, $145,801 for the life safety fund, $586,463 for liability insurance and $116,641 for special education.

If more state funding becomes available, Owca can recommend to the board that the levy be lowered past the filing deadline of Dec. 29, he said.

Owca filed the 1987 levy Dec. 16 with Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

Rate estimates are based on (See TAX, Page 8A)

Santa's chunky image needs fix

An advertising agency in Boston has undertaken a mission — to bring the image of Santa Claus out of the Dark Ages and into the 1980s.

Claiming that Santa is losing favor with children, a group once considered unshakable in its devotion to the Grand Old Elf, the agency is developing an advertising campaign that it hopes will make Santa's image more acceptable to the children of today.

Kids are more goal-directed today, the theory goes, and the old Santa isn't much of a role model. He's old, fat, bald, short, has a limited wardrobe, stinky pipe breath and a weird name. Worst of all, he works all year and then gives all his goodies away.

A modern elf of today should be named Dennis or Karen or some other name the shrinks have decreed most often gets associated with winners. "Santa" will not appear on any list of winner names.

Successful, goal-oriented people today may be getting a tad older, but they work frantically at being sleek.

Old Santa, by contrast, never met a plate of cookies he didn't like.

It's not hard to figure why he's in the shape he's in. All those homes, all those cookies.

Martin on the Metro

By Pat Martin

All we ever found were crumbs. This jibed with accounts from friends, so we assumed he ate them all.

Smoking is a social no-no these days, but you'll recall that Santa always has "the stomp of a pipe clenched tight in his teeth."

What nauseating, smelly teeth they must be.

And his clothes. Red, always red. Everybody knows that teal is the important color this year in fashion.

Santa's biggest shortcoming to a goal-oriented youngster has to be his compulsive manner of giving away everything he owns except his reindeer and his rancid pipe.

Some of you may argue that goals still can be noble today. If you say that after a good hard look around you, I suspect we are living in different decades.

The 1970s — referred to then as the Me Decade — were just a warm-up to the full blown Gimme Decade we now inhabit.

The role models today are the people who stab, sneeze, sleep, stomp and slime their way to the top — the quicker the better.

Anyone who attempts a nobler goal will be laughed at and called some kind of a hippie throwback.

Santa is a sort of aging hippie, with his odd clothes and beard, and he's just as out of step.

Give Santa a new wardrobe, a 32-inch wrist, a Porsche and a seat on the stock exchange. Then we might be getting somewhere in the role model department.

They say you can't fool children so maybe I should take a cue from one of my own. For the third consecutive year, our three-year-old went into a shrieking anxiety attack when we got to the head of our department store's Santa line.

Maybe what she was telling us, in her sweet way, was that St. Nick's bulging belly is no substitute for a bulging portfolio.

Maybe the tantrum really was about his dingy black old boots that looked suspiciously like they had been slushing through reindeer droppings. Couldn't the old stob have saved himself one decent pair of Gucci loafers?

And all the time I thought it was his stinky breath.

Social Security misunderstood

As I travel across this country, speaking to Americans of all ages and walks of life, from high school students to senior citizens, I realize how many people misunderstand this nation's Social Security program.

Most workers contributing to Social Security do not know that the program provides a broad range of protection against loss of income. While most are aware that monthly retirement benefits are available in old age, the valuable disability and survivors insurance protection under the program are often overlooked, especially by younger workers.

Public opinion polls continually show that, despite all evidence to the contrary, many younger workers do not believe that Social Security is financially solvent.

Many Americans still question whether it will be around for them when they become eligible. Many others have unrealistic expectations about what the program provides.

Social Security was always designed to be a basic foundation, onto which workers would add private pensions and savings to provide income during retirement.

When I accepted President Reagan's nomination to be the 10th commissioner of Social Security, I decided that educating the public about this program would be one of my top priorities.

I am proud to announce that we will be making great strides in pursuing this initiative in the

By Dorcas R. Hardy
Commissioner of Social Security

In coming months, with the recent acceptance of Social Security as a client for one of the Advertising Council's public service campaigns.

The Advertising Council is a private, non-profit organization that conducts advertising campaigns in the public interest. Founded in 1942, it is supported entirely by the advertising communications industries and American business.

Some of the most widely recognized campaigns of the Advertising Council have included: "Take a Bite Out of Crime" for the National Crime Prevention Council; "A Mind is a Terrible Thing to Waste" for the United Negro College Fund; and "Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires," featuring Smokey the Bear for the Department of Agriculture.

In cooperation with the Advertising Council, Social Security will be introducing a multimedia campaign designed to educate the public about how the program works and the value of Social Security protection for workers of all ages and their families.

The public can expect to see and hear about the campaign on local television and radio stations, read about it in national magazines and local newspapers, and come in contact with advertisements in a variety of places, including billboards, airports and bus terminals.

Social Security's campaign will be conducted by one of the top 50 advertising agencies in the United States, Kornhauser and Calene Inc. Advertising expertise will be provided free of charge to Social Security by this well-respected New York-based agency.

Because the media agree to use the campaign materials as a public service, millions of dollars worth of coverage in newspapers, magazines, radio and television is also provided without charge. On average, Ad Council campaigns receive about $34 million worth of free media placement.

As more and more Americans learn through this national Advertising Council campaign about the valuable protection Social Security provides to people of all ages, the longstanding support for this important social program will grow stronger. And that can only be good for America.

Special pet care for winter needed

The Association for the Protection of Animals would like to remind everyone who has outside pets to take extra precautions to ensure their safety and comfort now that winter is here.

Cats and dogs require a house that provides dry shelter and warm bedding such as straw or rugs. The house should be protected from the elements as much as possible by placing it on the south or east of a fence or building and adding insulating material around the house. The covered opening should be facing the winter sun to the south or southeast, away from the northerly wind.

In freezing weather, animals require water at least twice a day and adequate food to maintain body temperature.

Many children will need adult supervision to provide the necessary care for their pet, especially when it's cold outside. It would be kind to bring them in when the temperature drops into the 20s, at least into a heated garage, and if you notice them shivering despite your attempts to keep them warm.

A special appeal to our supporters and to the people in this community — do not postpone any intended donations to the A.P.A.

Long Lake families celebrate Christmas

The Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department held its yearly Christmas party Dec. 13 at the fire station.

A turkey dinner was served, followed by a visit from Santa, who arrived by fire engine.

Those attending this year's party included: Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rutherford and grandchildren, Stacy, Lauren and Megan; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wiggins and Bob; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Arnold; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alkinson; and Kurt and Wendy; Lisa Fisher; Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Aulford; and Chip and Brittany.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young and Robbie; Mrs. Skip Farley and Brandon; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Becker and Brad; Alan Vanev and Jason and Jaron; and Mrs. Marvin Rishling and Ann, Katie, Kris and Michael.

Mayers observe 25 years

The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew F. Mayer Frontenac was celebrated at a family dinner hosted by Mrs. Mayer's mother, Tomea Nordhoff. The party was held at the restaurant on Nov. 28.

In addition to relatives from the Granite City and St. Louis area who gathered for the special occasion were family members from out-of-town. They included Margaret Kirchoff, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ricciardi and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Peto and family, all from Chicago suburbs. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Lubbers and family, Columbia, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayer have returned from a two-week vacation after traveling through northern Italy.

Job's Daughters initiates

Bethel 43, International Order of Job's Daughters, initiated new members and elected officers.

The meeting was conducted by Honored Queen Christy Dawson, under the direction of Bethel Guardian Charlotte Root and Associate Bethel Guardian Ralph Baker.

Initiated were Tanya and Crystal McWilliams, Delores Hermanson, deputy grand guardian, served as inspector.

An election of officers was held Nov. 24. Those selected to serve are: Vickie Becker, honored queen; Keri Smith, senior princess; Cary Miller, junior princess; Carmen Tamayo, guide; and Cori Elmore, marshal.

Appointed officers are: Kori Rylander, outer guard; Melissa Lynch, inner guard; Amy Isenberger, first custodian; April Marsh, senior custodian; Lavona Leonie, first messenger; Tanya McWilliams, second messenger; Crystal McWilliams, third messenger; Heidi Koenig, fourth messenger; Kristi Holsinger, fifth messenger; Jennifer Edwards, treasurer; Melanie Paschedag, recorder; Tracy Rich, librarian; and Christy Dawson, chaplain.

Recent activities of the bethel included "Go to Church Sunday" at St. John United Church of Christ; a "kidnap sleepover"; and a salad luncheon.

Ten members and adults attended the Fourth Epoch in Lebanon and Koenig, Kori Rylander, Leonie and Dawson took part in the Grand Pilgrimage at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Chicago, and a sightseeing trip, Nov. 21-22. The queen participated along with queens from other Illinois Bethels.

Coming events include a DeMolay Sweetheart Dance in Cahokia and an installation at Bethel 72, Edwardsville.

The girls performed a special ceremony for Root and Baker, who are retiring as bethel guardian and associate guardian. The officers sang "Bury the Presence" to them. A farewell poem was read by Root, and remarks were made by Baker.

Dawson gave her queen's report and was presented with the Dorothy Effittoff Beck Honored Queen's Scholarship by Root.

Jaycees again pick Soles 'Outstanding Young Man'

For the second year, Jon Soles, Madison, has been named "Outstanding Young Man of America" by the U.S. Jaycees.

Soles, served as local president of the Granite City Jaycees in 1986-87 and was named "Outstanding Young Man of America" by the U.S. Jaycees. He also was presented the title of "The Top 10 Local Presidents" by the Illinois Jaycees, and "The Number One Local President" by the Gateway Region Jaycees.

This year, Soles is serving as "Illinois Jaycees District Director," 1987-88, for the Gateway Region, District 3. There are 65 district directors in the state of Illinois. Soles is ranked as fourth. Soles has received top honors as "Number One District Director" by the region and Area Three, for the first two quarters this year.

Soles is also serving as "Chairman of the Board," for the Granite City Jaycees.

Soles stated in a recent local meeting at the Jaycees Hall, 21st Street and Edison Avenue, "We have only begun. This community needs us. There are people here who don't even know us, or even that our building is open to the public. These are the folks we need to reach. Especially this time of year. As an employee from last year pointed out to me what has become my motto, 'Nothing is going to stop us now. Let's go to work.'"

Soles, a 1977 Madison High School graduate, is now residing in Madison. He is an active member of Tri-City Park Tabernacle, Assembly of God, and is enrolled at Belleville Area College.

Fellowship applications available

The closing date for Ford Foundation Postdoctoral Fellowships for Minorities is Jan. 15, according to Rosemary Archangel, acting dean of the Graduate School at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Approximately 35 fellowships will be awarded in 1988 in this national competition conducted by the National Research Council on behalf of the Ford Foundation. Major disciplines included are the biological sciences, physical sciences, mathematics, engineering sciences, behavioral social sciences and humanities.

Fellowships will be offered only to citizens or nationals of the United States who are members of the following minority groups that tend to be under-represented in formal programs of postdoctoral study and research: American Indians or Alaskan natives, Black Americans, Mexican Americans/Chicanos, Native Pacific Islanders, and Puerto Ricans. Applicants are required to have earned the Ph.D. degree or a terminal degree in a field in which a Ph.D. is not offered, such as the master of fine arts degree, by Jan. 15.

Applications are available in the Graduate School's Office of Research and Projects. For information, the number to call is 692-3162.

Senator wants more history tests

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., has urged lawmakers to adopt a resolution that would "advance the historical legacy of American politics" by calling on state and local educators to assure that their students have a fundamental knowledge of the Constitution, the Federalist Papers and the Declaration of Independence.

Noting a need to "emphasize the importance of educating today's youth about the history, content and implications of (America's) historical documents," Simon introduced a concurrent resolution encouraging state and local governments and local educational agencies to establish a secondary school graduation requirement that would test students' knowledge of basic American documents.

He said state and local officials should bear the responsibility of implementing the measure.

"There is a continuing need for students to study the fundamental documents that have provided our nation, its citizens and the world with the basic principles of American constitutional democracy," Simon said.

• Tax

Dist. 9 Levy
$10.4 million

The estimated 1987 assessment base in the district of $291,603,129, an increase of about 16 percent from last year's actual assessment total of $250,453,357, Owca said.

School officials set the levy, township and county assessment officials will determine the valuation next year, and the county clerk then will apply the levy to the valuation to determine rates. Rates next are applied to individual assessments to prepare tax bills, which are expected to be mailed next May.

Owca is doubtful the assessed valuation will increase 16 percent from last year, if it does not, he said, the district won't receive some of the taxes levied, due to rate limits.

During a public hearing, held before the levy was adopted, Shirley Stot, teachers' union president, said the union supported the levy increase.

Superintendent Gib Walmsley said district administrators are looking at ways to cut spending and will give a report in January.

Board member Paul Ray Bowler voted to adopt the levy, after he had said he would vote against it. He said people wouldn't mind a tax increase if the district was trying to cut costs.

Preceding him in death was his brother, Hoyt Meredith.

Survivors include his wife, Helen (Stack) Meredith; two sons, Michael Meredith, Washington, Iowa, and Richard Meredith, who is serving with the Navy in San Diego, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Gilbert (Diane) Ellis, New Douglas, Ill., and Mrs. Gaylon (Margaret) Harris, Granite City; his mother, Maggie Meredith, Cadiz, Ky.; one sister, Katie Gibbs, Cadiz; two brothers, Willy and Howard Meredith, both of Cadiz; and six grandsons.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. today (Tuesday) at Bethesda Baptist Church, 3035 Nameoki Drive, with the Rev. Luther Abbott officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Cemetery. Visitation took place from 5 to 9 p.m. Monday at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave.

Visitation will begin at 10 a.m. today (Tuesday) with services following at 11 a.m. today at Davis Funeral Home, 21st Street and Cleveland Blvd. The Rev. Ronald Petersen will officiate. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville. Memorials may be sent to St. Peter's Memorial Fund.

Surviving are his wife, Jo Ann (Hoffschwelle) Hartman; one daughter, Mrs. Eugene (Beth) Warnette, Fond Du Lac, Wis.; three sons, Lawrence E. # Women join Optimist Club

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

'You've come a long way, baby.'

GRANITE CITY — A 68-year tradition of exclusive male membership in the Optimist Club is broken.

Five women have joined the Granite City club. They are Charlotte Charbonnier, Gertrude Lubben, Linda Vaughn, all Granite City residents; Karen Gambichler, Collinsville; and Evelyn Harris, Edwardsville.

Membership in the youth-service organization was reserved for business and professional men since the first convention of Optimist International in June 1919.

The organization's bylaws were changed in June at the international convention to allow women to join, said Norm Hall, governor-elect, Illinois District of Optimist International.

Fourteen of the 88 Optimist Clubs in Illinois have invited women to join, Hall said.

Two U.S. Supreme Court decisions were made against two all-male organizations; one against the Jaycees in 1986 and one against Rotary International this year. Rotary said.

"We took the lead rather than fighting it," Hall said.

The women said their membership in the club hasn't caused problems with the men.

"The members have made us feel very welcome," Harris said.

"They've treated us like queens," Gambichler said. "They seem to enjoy having us there."

"I don't feel like anyone resents me being there," Charbonnier said.

Lubben, a retired District 9 teacher, said she thought it was important that the decision to allow women to join the club was made by the men, adding that she never wanted to "invade men's territory."

"If the Optimists wanted to remain a men's society, fine," she said. "There're other things women can do."

Charbonnier, a local insurance agent, said she had no reservations joining an all-male group.

"It's all in the way you see it," she said. "I don't see it as a problem, therefore there's no problem."

Several of the women became interested in youth activities by working with the Boy Scouts.

Both Harris and Gambichler work at the Scout office in Granite City and were associated with Bill Monical, an Optimist and retired Scout executive.

Monical is a strong believer of women joining the club.

"I think it's a grand idea," he said. "I think it adds to the club."

Hall said there are some clubs that oppose having women members.

"It's fine with us," Hall said. "It'll strengthen our organization."

The decision to let women join the Optimist Club won't effect the Opti-Mrs. Club, an auxiliary organization comprised of wives of present and deceased Optimists, said Vice President Kay Hall.

"We're just more of a social type organization," she said. "We haven't invited any of the men to join. We didn't think they want to."

The new female Optimists have started taking an active role in the club. Some of them worked at the Dec. 10 sandwich and soup luncheon.

"People work together and can be nice to each other," Charbonnier said.

"It's a good fellowship," Gambichler said. "It's a good bunch of guys, and women now."

Coming January 6th: A New Face in Classified.

On Wednesday, January 6th, Classified in the Suburban Journals will take on a new face — a new typeface that's bigger, brighter and easier to read.

Think of Classified ads as "news" about the things that you need and want. Reading the news that's in Journal Classified should be a pleasing experience. And when you place an ad, it should look good and bring you fast results. That's why Journal Classified will be taking on a new face. But we're not stopping there.

Starting on January 6th, Classified ads will appear at the top of the page. The bigger display ads will run below the ads in-column. You'll be able to find ads easier, and it will be more convenient for you to read and respond to the "news" in Classified.

And beginning next month, the Journals will offer in-column logos to their business advertisers. A company's logo is part of its identity and needs to be included in every advertising message.

And now it can be... in Journal Classified ads. Please ask your Journal sales representative for details, or call Classified at (314) 821-1110 (in Illinois, please call 618-463-2527).

In recent months, the Journals have made changes in the way that Classified is presented so that it's more convenient to read and to use. We continue to add classifications so that you can find what you want faster. And you'll now find editorial news features for Real Estate and Automobiles in Classified. We've listened to your requests and will continue to make the changes which benefit you, our readers and advertisers.

Light-rail contingency fund sought by agency

By Roger McGrath
Staff affiliate

The Bi-State Development Agency has begun searching for the $25 million contingency fund that would be used to pay for any cost overruns during construction of the light rail system.

The contingency fund, which could be used while awaiting the forwarding of federal funds during construction, is a requirement for signing the full-funding contract with the federal Urban Mass Transit Administration.

The full-funding contract must be signed before Bi-State can tap funds Congress has allocated for design and construction of MetroLink, St. Louis' light-rail system.

Congress earmarked $36 million for the project last year and Bi-State executives expect up to $36 million to be allocated this year.

"We're making good progress" in pushing ahead with light rail, Tom Purcell, chairman of Bi-State's light rail committee, said during a meeting Wednesday. Bi-State recently assumed control of MetroLink from the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

The contingency fund, under federal rules, must total 10 percent of construction costs. MetroLink's estimated cost is $250 million.

But Purcell said the size of the contingency fund is a major point of negotiation with UMTA. He said he expects a full-funding contract will be presented to Bi-State's board of commissioners in early February.

The most likely source of the money is Bi-State's "special sales tax capital fund," also known as the "internally-restricted fund." Bi-State officials said. The current balance of the fund is $12.8 million.

But "if that (money) is committed to light rail, that may create some operational concerns for the agency," said Bi-State attorney John Fox Arnold. Bi-State uses the fund to pay for subsidy checks from local governments to arrive.

The fund also is important because Congress is considering tax-law changes that would eliminate the sale of tax anticipation notes. Bi-State sells anticipation notes, and then repays them after it receives its subsidies from local governments.

If anticipation notes are outlawed, Bi-State will need the internally restricted fund for day-to-day working capital needs, said Edwin Hunziker, Bi-State deputy general manager of finance.

Most other Bi-State accounts are pledged to pay off bonds or are already earmarked for other purposes, so they aren't available for the contingency fund, he said.

Arnold said one alternative could be to amend the current transportation sales tax to require local governments to send a set percentage of taxes collected into a special capital fund. Currently, Bi-State puts 7 percent of the subsidy money it receives into a capital reserve.

The subsidies from St. Louis city and county usually are less than the amount of tax collected. The county uses nearly a fourth of the $40 million it now collects from the tax for highway projects.

Political leaders in the city and county have not pledged to contribute money to the contingency fund, Purcell said.

Meantime, Douglas Campion, Bi-State's director of light rail, and two other employees have transferred from the staff at East-West Gateway to Bi-State.

Raleigh D'Adamo, Bi-State executive director, estimates their salaries will total $78,000 for four months. The agency also will pay about $150,000 to two law firms, a title company and a consultant who are working on MetroLink.

Bi-State will recoup those funds once the full-funding contract is signed and the agency begins drawing down engineering and construction funds, D'Adamo said.

Auto traffic deaths rise in November in Illinois

Motor vehicle occupant deaths for November totaled 105, an increase from the five-year, pre-seat belt law average of 93 fatalities, according to the Illinois departments of Transportation and State Police.

The three-year average for November under the seat belt law is 105 fatalities as compared to the 93-death average in November for the five years (1980-1984) preceding the law, an increase of 12.9 percent.

Overall fatalities for November totaled 139 as a result of 123 accidents.

This is an increase of 5.3 percent from the 132 deaths in November 1986.

During the holidays we want to say, be happy, be safe and...thanks.

The holidays seem to be the perfect time to take a few moments to say thanks. It's not a big word, only six letters. But, as employees of Illinois Power Company, for all of the times you've said "thanks" to us, we thank you. It means a lot.

Whether we work in an office, on a crew that you see in your neighborhood or in a generating station, we hope your holidays are happy and filled with good memories this year and all the years to come.

But, please, be careful as you travel and as you prepare for those special times. When you put up decorative lights, check them out. Make sure the insulation around the wiring isn't frayed or cracked. Replace any questionable cord, and if it sparks, smokes or feels warm, unplug it immediately.

Make sure your lights don't come in contact with anything that could burn. If you use outdoor lights, be sure they're approved for exterior use. As always, if you work from a ladder, stay away from overhead power lines.

From our homes to yours, thanks for taking the extra time to make sure your holidays are safe and happy. And thanks for the "thanks."

Good Food—Good Health Baking tradition trims away fat with tin full of healthy cookies

While many baked goods tend to be high in fat, it does not always have to be that way. Lower-fat cookies can be just as tasty, but lower fat does not necessarily mean few calories.

Try making cookie recipes with only one-half to three-quarters as much fat, butter, shortening, margarine, etc., as usual. Experiment with the addition of one or two favorite dried fruits for added flavor and nutrition. When possible, substitute whole grain flour for all-purpose flour.

Meringue Finger Cookies are light as air and are made with no fat at all. Soft, moist and spicy, Holiday Spice Drops are made with wholesome pumpkin. They can be served straight from the oven or cupped with a lemon glaze.

and cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition, until sugar is dissolved. Add vanilla. Continue beating until stiff, glossy peaks form.

Line cookie sheets with brown wrapping paper or foil.

Spoon meringue into decorating bag with medium star tube. Pipe into 3-by-1/2 inch fingers, about 1 inch apart on cookie sheets. Bake 1 hour at 200° or until set.

Cool on cookie sheets on wire racks 10 minutes, then carefully loosen and remove cookies from cookie sheet with spatula. Allow to cool completely on wire racks.

Yields about 30 cookies, each containing 14 calories and no fat.

Citrus flavors

enhance menus

The use of salt and sodium-based seasoning in meal preparation is passe in today's healthy lifestyle. Years ago, food items were incomplete without the addition of salt for flavor. Now, by substituting herbs and spices, smart cooks find alternative flavors and tastes without reaching for a salt shaker. Many are discovering that tasty seasonings do not come prepackaged in a jar.

Citrus fruit and fruit juice pep up many dishes. They add sparkle to menus while providing a tangy zip to a diet. Oranges, lemons, grapefruit and limes can be natural flavor enhancers in virtually every category of a menu. Not only are they big on taste and aroma, but citrus fruits also provide an added bonus of being packed with vitamin C yet low in calories and sodium.

For more information on cooking without salt, call the Heart Information Service at 46-HEART, or 1-800-255-9919.

- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/2 tsp. ginger
- 1/2 cup raisins
- Lemon Glaze, if desired

In mixing bowl, cream margarine with sugars. Beat in eggs, pumpkin and vanilla.

Sift flour, baking soda, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger into bowl. Mix with sugar mixture. Stir in raisins.

Drop by teaspoons on lightly greased baking sheets. Bake in 325° oven 12 to 15 minutes. Cool. Frost with Lemon Glaze or serve plain.

Lemon Glaze: In mixing bowl, blend 1 tablespoon soft margarine, 1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel. Add enough milk (about 1 tablespoon) to make a thin glaze.

Makes about 3 dozen 2-inch cookies. Each cookie contains 1 gm. fat, and 37 calories unglazed or 50 calories glazed.

I Love Eating Fresh muffins make good munching

By Jacqueline Lankier
Registered dietitian
American Heart Association

The old saying, "an apple a day keeps the doctor away" may be more true today than ever before. When the statement first was coined, it referred to the natural-occurring fiber in apples and its role in preventing constipation. Current research seems to indicate that fiber plays an even broader role within the body and may be therapeutic for many individuals.

Dietary fiber can be divided into two main categories, those that are soluble and those that are insoluble in water. The fibers abundant in bran cereals and whole grain breads are insoluble. Insoluble fibers are responsible for accelerating gastric emptying and transit time in the small intestine.

Bananas, apples, oranges, carrots and oatmeal are rich in soluble fibers. Soluble fibers function differently by slowing gastric emptying and transit times. This delay is thought to be beneficial in the prevention of some metabolic disorders including elevated blood cholesterol levels. The exact process is unclear, but soluble fibers may bind with bile acids forcing the liver to take up dietary cholesterol, which helps replace bile acids lost in the feces.

Another theory is that by-products of the digested soluble-fiber may interfere directly with cholesterol production. More research is needed to determine specific mechanisms and potential by beneficial and/or adverse effects.

Although fiber research is still in the early stages, health professionals agree that everyone should be encouraged to include appropriate amounts of fiber in foods eaten.

These Apple Muffins are sweet and delicious enough to serve at any holiday party. Baking them in mini-muffin cups gives them a festive air and makes them cookie-size on a tray.

Apple muffins

6 tbsp. oil

Onion-mustard sauce

Give broiled steaks a lift by accompanying them with this zesty onion sauce.

Combine 1/2 cup finely chopped onions with 1 cup dairy sour cream, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard and 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish. Chill several hours. Makes about 2 cups.

One small onion, chopped, will measure about 1/4 cup. A chopped medium onion will yield about 1/2 cup. A large chopped onion will measure about 1 cup.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a person decides to sell his real estate, he may employ a real estate broker by means of an open listing agreement. With an open listing agreement, the seller can still sell the property himself or hire other brokers to do so. With this type of agreement, there is not an exclusive right of one broker to sell the property.

In one recent case, the owner of a bowling alley met with two real estate brokers to discuss the possible sale of his business. The seller indicated that he was not actively seeking a buyer, but that he would consider selling the business if he could realize $550,000 from the sale. The parties at that time undertook an oral listing agreement.

The broker showed the bowling alley to several potential buyers. Ultimately people named Grockes indicated that they wanted to purchase the real estate as well as the business, but they felt that the sellers were asking too much for the business.

In the meantime, the owners of the bowling alley remodeled the building. The owners then contacted the Grockes directly to see if they had any continued interest in the purchase of the business. The owners individually began to negotiate with the Grockes, and the real estate broker was not involved from that point forward. In December of 1983, several months after the real estate broker's last involvement, the business and the real estate were sold.

The owners refused to pay the broker a commission. The real estate broker eventually sued the owners for $27,500, which he felt was the commission owed him under the terms of the open listing agreement. The trial court found that the real estate broker was the procuring cause of the sale, and entered judgment against the sellers in the amount of $27,500.

The owners of the bowling alley took the case on appeal. The Appellate Court reversed the decision of the trial court, and found that the real estate broker did not procure a ready, willing, and able purchaser for the property. Although the ultimate purchasers were originally procured by the broker, these purchasers were unwilling to meet the terms of the listing agreement in that they were not willing to pay $550,000 net to the owners of the business. The broker did not meet the terms of the oral listing contract and was therefore not entitled to a commission.

OFFERING A GIFT to a small household from a small household is an easy task.

For 2 or Few At home-gifting time, little things mean a lot

When it comes to creative but simple gift-giving ideas, search no farther than the kitchen, no matter its size.

These unique specialties from the kitchen offer the gift-giver, as well as the recipient, a spark of originality. They appeal as thoughtful ideas, can be sized to fit the household and one or two or a small portion can stay at home for a sample, too.

An ideal thank you for a host or hostess, the Pear Liqueur should be given with its date of making, noting that it needs about six weeks to allow proper standing time. The liqueur makes on-convenient canned pears, which are already pre-ripened, pared and ready to use. It offers the side prize of having a gift now, using it later.

Whether under the tree or on the table, home-baked goods are always part of the holiday tradition. Made with a spice-cake mix, the Ginger Pear Cakes

With Pistachios are baked in mini-leaf pans and topped with Ginger Pear Jell. A great time-saving treat, Pear Mince-meat Rolls are easy to prepare with the use of refrigerated crescent dinner rolls.

Another make-ahead gift is Pistachio-Flavored Oil. Pistachios add a mild subtle flavor and a delicate green hue to the vegetable oil. The seasoned oil should be stored in an airtight container one to two weeks before use. For something extra during the yuletide season, include a bag of pistachios festively tied with a holiday ribbon. They are available year-round in either their natural tan shell or dyed a vivid red, perfect for a holiday treat.

Kiwifruit adds tangy-sweet flavor and brilliant green color to holiday foods. Kiwifruit Bar Cookies are enhanced with a touch of cinnamon and the texture of coconut.

Banana peanut caramel corn

- 1/2 cup popped corn
- 1/2 cup peanuts
- 1 large ripe banana, peeled
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 cup corn syrup
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Combine popcorn and peanuts in large container.

Puree bananas in blender to make 1 cup.

In 3-quart saucepan, combine bananas, sugars, corn syrup and butter. Boil 5 minutes.

Remove from heat. Stir in soda and vanilla. Stir quickly. Pour over popcorn mixture. Coat well. Spoon into large flat pans; jelly-roll or cookie sheets with sides are ideal. Bake in 250° oven 1 hour, stirring once.

Cool, stirring occasionally. Store in airtight containers. Makes 6 quarts.

Cheesy vegetables and pasta

- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 1 medium green pepper, cut in 1/2 inch pieces
- 1 medium red pepper, cut in 1/2 inch pieces
- 1 medium yellow squash, halved lengthwise, sliced
- 1 medium zucchini, halved lengthwise, sliced
- 1/2 tsp. basil leaves, crushed
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 cup cooked corkscrew macaroni
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese

In 10-inch skillet over medium heat, in hot butter cook green and red peppers, yellow squash, zucchini and basil about 5 minutes or until vegetables are tender-crisp, stirring often.

Stir in soup mix and water. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low. Cover. Simmer 3 minutes.

Stir in macaroni. Sprinkle cheese over top. Cover. Simmer 2 minutes more or until cheese melts.

Makes 6 servings, 230 calories and 265 mg. sodium each.

Harvest cookies

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 1 can (16 oz.) pumpkin
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. cinnamon

Cream butter and sugars together in large bowl. Beat in eggs, vanilla and pumpkin.

In separate bowl, combine flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, cloves and allspice. Add dry mixture gradually to creamed mixture until thoroughly mixed. Stir in diced prunes.

Drop from large tablespoon (each mound should contain about 2 1/2 tablespoons dough) on greased baking sheet, placing 1 1/2 inches apart. The cookies will not spread as they bake.

Bake at 375° for 18 to 20 minutes. Prepare glaze while cookies bake.

When cookies are done, remove from oven and place on cooling racks, with waxed paper placed underneath. Drizzle hot cookies generously with glaze. Glaze will dry when cookies are cool.

Makes about 32 large cookies.

Glaze: Combine 2 tablespoons softened butter or margarine, 1 1/2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar, pinch salt and 2 tablespoons lemon juice in small bowl. Beat until smooth. Mixture should be the consistency of a thick glaze. If too stiff, add a few drops more lemon juice or water.

Curry-glazed chicken breasts

- 3 whole chicken breasts, boned, halved
- 4 tsp. oil
- 1/2 cup curry powder

Brown chicken about 2 minutes on each side in hot oil in large skillet over medium-high heat. Remove chicken.

Reduce heat to low. Stir in curry powder. Cook, stirring constantly, about 1 minute.

Add toriyaki, stirring to combine well. Return chicken to skillet, skin-side down. Simmer, covered, 5 minutes. Turn over chicken. Simmer 5 minutes longer or until chicken is tender.

To serve, slice each chicken piece crosswise in 1/2-inch strips. Spoon sauce over strips.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cheddar pear pie

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 2 to 3 tbsp. cold water

Streusel Topping

- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 cup (2 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup cold margarine

Pear Filling

- 6 cups sliced, peeled ripe pears (about 12 medium)
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 3 tsp. cornstarch

Cheddar Pie Shell: In medium bowl, mix 1 1/2 cups flour and 1/2 cup cheddar cheese. With pastry blender or 2 knives, cut in 1/2 cup margarine until fine crumbs form. Sprinkle water over mixture while tossing with fork to blend well.

Press dough firmly into ball. On lightly floured surface, roll out to 12-inch circle. Fit loosely into 9-inch pie plate. Trim and flute edge.

Refrigerate while preparing topping and filling.

Streusel Topping: In small bowl, mix 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 cup brown sugar and 1/2 cup cheddar cheese. With pastry blender or 2 knives, cut in cold margarine just until coarse crumbs form.

3-pointers boost Trojans

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

EDWARDSVILLE — Rich Essington isn't a fan of the three-point shot — except on nights like Saturday.

But Vallino doesn't believe in the three-point shot — especially on nights like Saturday.

If the Madison Trojans and Edwardsville Tigers had played this game a year ago, the Tigers would have claimed a 34-30 win. Unfortunately for Vallino, the Tiger coach, 10 of the Trojans' baskets came from beyond the three-point arc. The result was a 60-54 win for Madison in a meeting of the two independents.

Guard Clarence Williams was the chief bombardier for the Trojans (4-1) as the 6-0 guard connected on six bombs and 24 points in all. But it was Jason Briggs' three pointer from the right corner that put Madison ahead for good with 56 seconds left, 56-54. They hung on with the help of a pair of intentional fouls and four more free throws.

SCORING
MADISON: Williams 14, 17, 14, 26-60
EDWARDSVILLE: Williams 24 (15 3-pointers), Leonard 11 (10 3-pointers), Briggs 9 (11 3-pointers), Sanders 4, Smith 3 (11 3-pointers), Q. Williams 4, FG 15-48 (10 3-pointers), FT 22-32, 57-74.
EDWARDSVILLE: Sanders 16, Sherrard 14, Martin 12, Tuttle 10, Lockert 2, FG 22-50, FT 4-12, 50-76.

"I'm against the three-pointer, but I was for it tonight," said Essington, whose Trojans are off to a surprisingly good start.

Edwardsville caused us problems by switching defenses, but our guys hung in when they could have quit.

The game was tied 21-21 at halftime when the Tigers used their size advantage — something almost every team has when it plays the Trojans — to surge to a 33-24 lead in the third quarter. But the Trojans hung close with the help of Williams' bombs.

"We didn't think they could shoot with that percentage," Vallino said after the Tigers had fallen to 3-2. "But we knew they were that type of club. We made some mistakes and didn't have the killer instinct in the third quarter to put them away."

Four of Madison's five field goals in the third quarter were three-pointers. The Trojans worked their way back to a 41-35 deficit for the start of the fourth quarter. Williams tied it once with a three-pointer, then Ian Smith tied it again at 47-47 by following Williams' miss after a steal.

David Sherrard put the Tigers ahead again and Marc Tuttle's two free throws made it 52-49 for another bomb from the right side with 2:35 left. To tie the game, Jessie Leonard made one of two free throws to give the Trojans the lead before Aaron Sues (16 points) gave the Tigers their last lead.

Briggs then canned his bomb, and after Tuttle's shot went in and out with 34 seconds left, the Tigers never got another chance.

MIKE A. WILKINSON keeps a close eye on Cahokia's Brian Karvinen during Don Deterding's 400th career win on Friday at Memorial Gymnasium.

Both coaches less than satisfied as Kahoks topple Warriors, 64-49

By Jim Woodcock

Staff writer
The Collinsville Kahoks got great play from their guards Saturday against the Warriors, but it wasn't enough to satisfy coach Bob Bone.

On the other hand, the Warriors received 20 points from post man Kevin Sanders, Granite City coach Don Deterding said. Sanders could have done more.

The Kahoks ended up with a 64-49 Southwestern Conference win over their rivals, improving their record to 6-1 overall and 2-0 in the league. Overall, though, Bone wasn't impressed.

The Warriors (4-36, 0-2 in the SWC) lost their fourth game in five tries and committed 21 turnovers in the process. All in all, Deterding was upbeat after his team's performance in Fletcher Gym.

Is there a bottom line to this mismatch of post-game commentary?

Deterding said yes: His team wasn't embarrassed and actually was quite competitive most of the evening. On Collinsville's behalf, it may be said that the Kahoks struggled most of the night but were still able to win by 15 points.

"I hope that's the sign of a good team, but I don't know," Bone said. "We seemed real flat tonight. But we're 6-1 at Christmas, so we must be doing something right."

"Both teams are off until Monday, when each plays in the opening round of the Collinsville/Schuicks Holiday Tournament."

It wasn't until late in the fourth quarter when the Kahoks iced the win, thanks in large part to junior guard Tim Pace's sharpshooting from three-point range. Pace, who finished with a game-high 24 points, connected on all three of his three-point attempts to lessen the Warriors' threat — a threat that was very real.

Before Pace got hot, the Warriors strung together a series of free throws and high percentage shots to twice come within seven points of a tied game. However, after a Pace three-pointer put Collinsville up 55-45 with 2:50 to go, the Kahoks outscored Granite City 9-0 in the next two minutes to finally put the game out of reach.

The late burst by the Kahoks was about the only thing Bone found solace in Saturday.

"There was an urgency there," he said. "They got back to work, and it was a ballgame, so we had to do something or we were going to get beat. The kids responded."

"Face just killed us," Deterding said. "I don't know if he shoots like that all the time, but he shot extremely well tonight. He was the difference in the game, even early when he penetrated on us a few times."

The Kahoks led 10-5 after the first quarter, with all five Granite City points scored by Sanders. Granite City got scoring help from other sources in the second quarter while the Kahoks used six points each from Pace (perfect on three field attempts) and Brad Keene (13 points on

DAVE VELZER scrambles for a loose ball during a Stars home game. GCC evened its record at 6-6 with an 82-69 win at Florissant Valley on Saturday. TODD HUTCHINSON gives Belleville West's Frank Karls a taste of the floor during their 98-pound bout on Friday. Hutchinson won to stay unbeaten on the year, but the Maroons beat the Warriors 36-22.

Warrior matmen sweep three at quad meet

A home loss on Friday to Belleville West must have made the Warrior wrestling team a little angry.

They channelled that anger into three victories in a quad meet in House Springs (Mo.) on Saturday, outscoring their three opponents 159-39.

Todd Hutchinson (wrestling at 103 pounds instead of 98 per Missouri rules) and Brent Davis (119) both stayed unbeaten on the year with impressive performances. Hutchinson beat Adam Young of Farmington 15-0 and also won a match against Fort Zumwalt South by forfeit. Davis scored two shutout wins and also pinned Rick Webb of Northwest House Springs in 56 seconds. Scott Moss, Jerold Moss, Rich Fenoglio, Dan Grayson and Terry Stanley were also unbeaten on the day.

The Warriors are now 8-4-1 on the year and are off until the Granite City Holiday Tournament on Dec. 28-29.

Eagles honor youth soccer teams at banquet

The Fraternal Order of Eagles youth soccer dinner and trophy presentation was held recently at the Eagles Home, 2558 Madison Ave.

Chairman for the event was Ray Fritzsche and the hosts were Gene Reinhardt and David Schweirjohn. Players, coaches and parents were entertained by magician Bruce Dyvig. Reinhardt introduced Aerie president Don Horn and vice president Bob Hogan, who told of plans for future expansion and renovation of the Eagles building.

The dinner was served and prepared by Larry Gray, David

Cooper, Bill Haddix, Ken Spencer, Joann Spencer, Bill Schweirjohn, Lyte Tempel, John Kipp, Randy Odum, Jack DeGonia, Gail Fritzsche, Margarete Tempel, Ed Rickert and Max Mills.

Trophies were presented to the players by Horn and Hogan.

because two intentional fouls not only gave the Trojans free throws, but also possession of the ball.

"I don't know how they interpret those," Vallino said. "We had three guys out there, and they didn't know who was supposed to take the free throws once."

Briggs hit one free throw and Williams made one after another intentional foul. The Tigers stole the ball after that, but success three-pointers was off the mark and Williams hit the final two free throws with five seconds left. Matt Schreiber missed once more on a three-point attempt.

"We're not a three-point team," Vallino said. "We don't believe in it. We weren't even supposed to take those."

Clarence and Jessie always have the green light to shoot from there," Essington said. "I was worried we would be fired after that tough game with Venice on Friday. I was concerned if we could even stay close with Edwardsville. I told them they would have to sacrifice more tonight than they ever had before."

"But the three-pointers can take you off the hook," Essington said. "And put the opposition on the hook."

NOTES: The Trojans play at East St. Louis Assumption tonight before opening play in the Collinsville/Schmuckel Holiday Classic against Andy Kaufmann and the Jacksonville Crimson at 4 p.m. on Dec. 28.

"Assumption is a big team and our press will have to have more of an effect," Essington said.

"Essington isn't exactly predicting stopping Kaufmann, who is averaging almost 40 points a game."

"Nobody can stop him," he said. "But I'm pleased with where we are. I thought we might be about 2-3 at this time. But these kids have been working hard. I didn't want to play that many games early in the year so we could get as much work in as we could. And we played two teams right off we thought we had a good chance against."
